

NEW DEAL DEALT TWO CRUSHING BLOWS TODAY

WIND STORM SUNDAY DID MUCH DAMAGE

Was Accompanied By Hard Rain and Hail in Some Places

The pre-summer heat wave was broken late Sunday afternoon when northern Illinois was swept by a severe rain and wind storm. With hail reported in many places. O. B. Dively, farmer, residing on route 2, while entering Dixon on the pump factory road this morning at 8:30 crashed into a tree with his automobile which overturned, damaging the car somewhat. Between Sixth and Seventh streets on Lincoln Avenue, a tree blew down last evening during the heavy wind storm and Dively turned out to avoid driving into a barricade and crashed into the tree. He escaped uninjured.

The storm caused some damage about the city blowing down branches and interfering with electrical service in some sections. Damage was also reported from sections outside of Dixon, which was nominal.

At Pennsylvania Corners in Ogle county, the wind was quite heavy. At the Floyd Jones farm, a wind mill and barn were blown down. The wind mill at the Bert Sheeley farm was also wrecked.

Deluge in Sterling.
In Sterling the hail did considerable damage, trees were blown down in many parts of the city, and basements in the central part of the business district were flooded when the new PWA sewer in locust street failed, water standing two feet deep at the corner of Fifth street and Locust at one time during the deluge.

Ogle County Damage.
Damage reported from Ogle county by Miss Katherine Keary, the Telegraph's Polo correspondent:

Mark Ziegler, Wauwong, barn scattered over ten acre field; Gordon Mulnix farm, chimney and windows blown from house; Homer Mulnix, barn and trees felled; Elmer Scholl, Paul Graehling and Curtis Stauffer, windmills wrecked; Glenn Cunningham, part of roof blown off; T. W. Jones, machine shed damaged; Silas Toms, cornshed razed; Garfield Lang, corn crib and part of house porch wrecked; Mrs. John Stuck, third of barn blown away and reduced to kindling; Joe Corbett, smoke house demolished, trees blown down; windows blown from house; George Trump, barn doors blown away; Jacob Bailey, chimney blown from house; Henry Stauffer, tenant house occupied by Perry Studebaker, tree fell on roof damaging upper floor and driving bed through floor into lower room; Milton Noakes, windows blown from house. At the Noakes home James Noakes was found unconscious and drenched in the doorway to the chicken house after the storm had passed. He had gone to round up the poultry and was probably affected by the electrical storm, as he was once struck by lightning. His condition today was satisfactory.

A large tree was blown across the pavement near the Elmer Scholl home, three miles south of Polo during the storm and all traffic was forced to detour until it was removed.

A bolt of lightning which preceded the first storm struck a barn on the Will and Helen Quick farm, two miles north of Ashton, tenanted by Charles and Ernest Sanders. The fire soon enveloped the entire structure and it was with difficulty that the live stock was removed, and a small quantity of feed was consumed. The damage was partially covered by insurance.

New Horse Racket Uncovered Today; Tazewell County
Pekin, Ill., May 18.—(AP)—A new racket in your old horses' racket is disclosed today by Sheriff Ralph Goar of Tazewell county, who said he had received nearly a dozen complaints.

Sheriff Goar said men representing themselves as government agents called at farms and said the government was offering one fine draft horse for two old work horses.

When the farmer accepted the idea, the men loaded the "trade-ins" into a truck and drove off, promising the new government model would be delivered the next day.

Phone Wires Cut

Police were called to the home of Mrs. Alice Carey, 508 Van Buren avenue Saturday night at 11 o'clock where it was reported that two men were attempting to enter the home. Mrs. Carey lives alone and is quite an aged lady and when she attempted to telephone the police, she was unsuccessful. A neighbor was notified and summoned the officers. Chief Van Bibber and Patrolman Harry Jones responding.

The investigation disclosed that the telephone wires had been cut outside the house, supposedly by two coatless strangers who had been seen loitering about the premises. It was reported that strangers had been seen about Mrs. Carey's home at late hours during the past ten days.

LIVES OF SEVEN TOLL OF SUNDAY AUTO ACCIDENTS

State Total for Week-end Lowest Since Warm Weather

Chicago, May 18.—(AP)—At least seven persons—three in Chicago and four downstate—died in automobile accidents over the week-end—the lowest total since warm weather brought increased numbers of cars to the highways.

At Hillsboro, 2-year-old Bobby Whitten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Whitten, was crushed when the brakes on a parked car slipped and allowed it to roll over his body.

James McDonald, 38, Springfield, was killed as his automobile overturned at a street intersection.

Walking with his coat pulled up to protect his face from rain, a man identified by letters in his pockets as Hennen Redunbach, 54, Waterloo, Ia., was killed on a highway east of Elgin. The death car was driven by Morris Poster, 42, Chicago, who said he did not see the victim in the driving rain until after he had been struck.

A speeding motorcycle officer, in pursuit of a traffic violator, struck and killed Joseph Balencia, 30, in suburban Melrose Park. Albert Jaszewski, 32, Chicago, was killed when struck by an automobile as he stepped from a safety island. Frank Minogue, 54, died when his car skidded and crashed into a street car.

Leighton Juda, 37, Davenport, Ia., merchant, was fatally injured near Walnut, Ill., when his auto overturned. He was riding alone and there were no eye witnesses. Juda was taken to Perry Memorial hospital at Princeton dying from chest injuries.

Farm House South of Dixon Burned
The house on the Grover Lane farm, six and a half miles south of Dixon on route 89, was completely destroyed by fire at about 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, the blaze probably originating from sparks on the roof. About half the furnishings were recovered. The loss is covered by the insurance carrier.

IMPORTED CROWS.

Chicago, May 18.—(AP)—The Chicago chapter of the Izaak Walton league scheduled a crow hunt but found the pesky birds didn't hang out in the metropolitan area. The sponsors had to send downstate to have some trapped, to be released for the occasion in one of the city parks.

J. Franklin Bender, Life Long Resident of Dixon, was Victim of Sudden Heart Attack at Home

John Franklin Bender, life long resident of Dixon and veteran contractor and builder, died very suddenly at 4:30 Saturday afternoon at his home, 211 Monroe avenue. He was assisting Lee Jones with work about the house and suffered a sudden dizzy spell and walking into the house, collapsed and fell on the floor. He expired before a physician could arrive.

Mr. Bender had been in failing health for some months, suffering from numerous attacks which were attributed to a chronic heart affliction. He was born March 24, 1873 in Dixon and had lived here practically all his life. He is survived by his widow, three grandchildren, Norma and Carol Crawford and Darlene Bender, one

LEGISLATURE WILL ACT ON 12 SUBJECTS

Horner Issues Call For Fourth Extra Session Today

Springfield, Ill., May 18.—(AP)—Governor Horner's call for the fourth special legislative session, issued today, authorized action on a dozen subjects, including permanent registration of Chicago voters and another attempt to amend the revenue article of the state constitution.

The call, made public this morning, also made it possible to legislate against Eastern Standard Time in Chicago.

The fourth special session will convene tomorrow night, meeting concurrently with the second session on relief.

Permanent registration is the big controversy, with Horner Democrats and most of the Republicans lined up against the opposition of the Kelly-Nash Chicago Democrats to the election reform proposal.

Kelly's opposition to permanent registration was one of the governor's major issues in his successful campaign for renomination. Administration men have predicted that the registration bill, defeated in the Senate during the third special session, could be passed this time.

"Official time observance to be used in the state and its localities" was one of the dozen topics in the call. It was aimed at Kelly's sponsoring of Eastern Standard time in Chicago, which was another political issue in the Democratic primary campaign.

Another attempt to amend the restricted revenue article of the state constitution also was authorized in the summoning of the latest special session. Several legislators have asked that an income tax proposal be submitted to a referendum.

Referendum Can Be Held
If approved by two-thirds majorities in both Houses, a referendum can be held at the November election on a revision of the Constitution's restrictions on the types of taxes that can be levied by the state government.

Repeated attempts to amend the Constitution have failed during recent years. In 1934 Mr. Horner unsuccessfully sponsored a proposal for a constitutional convention.

One of the dozen subjects in the call would provide for the handling of unemployment relief by municipalities.

"It is opportune that the General Assembly should consider whether local communities should exercise authority to adopt, except for the summer months, any time other than central standard time which has been in use in this state for many years," the Governor said in his proclamation.

He said that if an income tax amendment was proposed by the legislature in the new session it could be submitted to the voters at the November election in this year. The call was almost as extensive as that for the first special session which convened last October and ran to March 6.

It included, besides registration, standard time, and the income tax, the following:

The borrowing of money and issuance of bonds by municipal corporations and political subdivisions and the validation of bonds heretofore issued.

Funeral of Ex-Governor Len Small at Late Home in Kankakee Wednesday

Embodiment Cause of His Sudden Passing Yesterday

Kankakee, Ill., May 18.—(AP)—Funeral services for former Governor Len Small, a power in Illinois Republican ranks for a third of a century, will be held at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Small residence in West Kankakee.

Death in a hospital came unexpectedly for Small yesterday at the age of 73.

The former governor's body will lie in state at the home tomorrow afternoon and evening and Wednesday morning. The Rev. W. H. Craine, pastor of First Methodist church, will be in charge of services.

Burial will be in the family lot in Mound Grove cemetery here.

Death was due to an embolism, or blood clot, resulting from a minor operation performed last week. Few of the former governor's friends knew he had re-entered the hospital for treatment of an old ailment.

Sons Were With Him
His condition had not been regarded as serious, and only his two sons, Budd and Leslie, were with him when he died. He was talking and sipping a glass of milk, Leslie Small said, when suddenly he became faint, toppled over in bed and collapsed.

Known as "the good roads governor"—more than 7,000 miles of paved highways were constructed during his two terms of office—he was a candidate for nomination as governor six times, nominated three and elected twice. In the 1936 primary he ran second to C. Wayne Brooks, the party nominee, polling 268,983 votes to the

FLAGS HALF-STAFFED
Springfield, Ill., May 18.—(AP)—Flags on the state house and executive mansion flew at half staff today, upon Governor Horner's orders when he was notified of the death of former Governor Len Small.

The governor in a telegram to Leslie Small said:

"Please accept my earnest sympathy to you and the other members of his family upon the death of your distinguished father and former governor of Illinois. This is all one can offer under these sad circumstances."

596,445 piled up by the winner. In his home county he was given a vote of 12 to 1.

The former governor did not make his usual stump campaign last spring, preferring to meet his workers and advisors in Chicago or at the home here. Relatives said the campaign activities had nothing to do with his death.

Leaders Express Regret
Leaders of both parties expressed regret at his passing. Gov. Henry Horner, Democratic foe of Small in the 1932 election, telegraphed his condolences, ordered flags on all state buildings lowered to half mast, and said he would attend the funeral if state business permitted.

Republican leaders sent statements of sympathy—among them former Governor and U. S. Senator Charles S. Deneen, Fred Lundin, Judge Oscar F. Nelson, Robert E. Crowe, former State's Attorney of Cook county, and Samuel E. Etteleson. Brooks was among the first to offer condolences to the family.

Though defeated in the primary, his strength in Republican councils was demonstrated last week when Werner Schroeder, his adviser and campaign manager, was selected as permanent chairman of the party's state convention, to be held in Peoria Friday. The former governor, Edward F. Moore, Cook county Republican chairman, said had planned to back Brooks in the election next November.

Career Was Crowded
Small's crowded career as farmer, banker, publisher and business man reached its peak when he became the dominant leader of his party in Illinois.

He was first elected governor in 1920 with Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago as one of his strong supporters. For several ensuing years they were political enemies but Thompson again placed his powerful metropolitan organization behind Small and he was re-elected in 1924.

Besides his sons, Small is survived by a daughter, Mary, wife of Col. A. E. Ingles of Kankakee.

He was given emergency treatment in Walnut and then brought to the hospital here, where he died. An inquest was held this morning at the Norberg funeral chapel, the jury returning a verdict of accidental death.

He is survived by his widow, who came to Princeton immediately after being notified of the accident, and she plans to take his body to Texas, his former home, for burial.

RA INVALID SAYS APPEAL COURT TODAY

Government to Appeal Case to U. S. High Court

Washington, May 18.—(AP)—Attacking the 1935 relief act through a test case involving the resettlement administration, the District of Columbia Court of Appeals held today that it transgressed the Constitution.

Three of the five judges ruled, as had the Supreme Court in the NRA and AAA cases, that the law appropriating $4,880,000,000 delegated powers improperly to President Roosevelt and violated states' rights. The resettlement administration was considered invalid.

New Deal officials conferred about future procedure both on relief policy and in the courts.

Government to Appeal
Solicitor General Stanley Reed said an appeal would be taken to the Supreme Court at once.

He told newspapermen that after a hurried reading of the opinion he believed it was "narrow" and confined to construction projects for shifting population under the resettlement administration.

"I am not trying to minimize the opinion," he added. "We wanted it the other way."

A spokesman for Harry L. Hopkins said the work relief program would go on despite the decision. With Congress in session, he said, the act could be amended to meet the court's objections.

The resettlement administration had been allotted $230,398,400 of the work relief program. Hopkins' works progress administration had received the largest allotment of $1,363,926,901.

The sweeping opinion of the court indicated that certain types of relief projects were unconstitutional, saying:

Opinion Quoted
"We are not here confronted with an appropriation for internal improvements of a national character or importance, or the erection of public buildings or the grant of loans to a state or municipality to carry out public works projects."

"As to these," the court said, "we might find in the nature of the objectives a well-beaten path by which to supply the omitted means to that end."

But the judges thought differently about such projects as the resettlement administration is promoting.

The court said the law "attempts to reach and control matters over which the Constitution has given Congress no powers."

DESPERATE MORO LEPERS ESCAPED ISLAND; KILL 7

Philippine Police in Pursuit of Colony Fugitives Today

Manila, May 18.—(AP)—Six desperate Moro lepers fled before the constabulary today after killing seven men in a bloody dash from the Culion island leprosarium.

The armed lepers, under the leadership of one who called himself "Abdullah," killed four fishermen, seized a boat and fled the colony for Palawan and neighboring islands where their ruthlessness spread terror among the inhabitants.

Stepping at Jalumpang, on Aboabo island, the marauders killed three more persons and robbed Chinese stores. Then they proceeded to Bonobono where they attacked another Chinese merchant, but citizens of the town gathered in force and drove them away. They seized another boat and escaped to sea.

A mail for constabularymen to the soldiers to Bonobono a few hours later. They were told that the lepers said they were sailing from Tigabik, Borneo.

The constabularymen immediately started their hunt on Palawan and islands in that vicinity.

Citizens told the soldiers they feared to seize the lepers because they were afraid of infection from the disease. Lack of police forces on the isolated islands left the desperadoes a free hand.

Culion island, about 200 miles southeast of Manila, is approximately 15 miles long and 10 miles wide. Although the more than 5,000 lepers are in a segregated community, they are not imprisoned. Their community is partially self-sustaining through agricultural enterprise.

GUFFEY COAL ACT IS VOIDED BY COURT

Supreme Court Nullifies Regulation of Hours

Washington, May 18.—(AP)—The government lost today in the Supreme Court in its effort to bar Arthur W. Cutten, Chicago trader, from the nation's grain markets for two years.

Washington, May 18.—(AP)—Dividing six to three, the Supreme Court struck down the Guffey coal act today on the same ground that it invalidated NRA—an unconstitutional invasion of state powers.

The majority, through Justice Sutherland, held the Federal government was without power to regulate hours and wages in the mining industry as well as in the manufacturing industry.

The dissenters were Justices Brandeis, Stone and Cardozo.

The court did not rule on the constitutionality of the price fixing provision of the Guffey law to regulate the bituminous industry, but said these were so related to the labor provisions that the fall of the latter carried the price fixing section down too.

Issued Warning
In failing to rule on the price fixing provisions, the majority opinion warned that nothing the court said was to be taken as an indication that it would uphold them, even if they were enacted separately.

Chief Justice Hughes, in a separate opinion, concurred in the finding of the majority that Congress had exceeded its authority in attempting to regulate wages and hours.

The majority opinion held the excise tax of 15 per cent on soft coal production, with provisions for refunding 90 per cent for adherence to terms of the law was "clearly not a tax but a penalty."

But the court did not rule on the tax.

Tax Must Fall
"The position of the government, as we understand it," the opinion said, "is that the validity of the excise does not rest upon the taxing power but upon the power of Congress to regulate interstate commerce; and that if the act in respect of the labor and price fixing provisions be not upheld, the 'tax' must fall with them."

"With that position we agree and confine our consideration accordingly."

Senator Guffey (D-Pa.) was in the crowded audience.

A separate opinion was delivered by Chief Justice Hughes, who contended the act might be sustained "in relation to the provisions for marketing in interstate commerce."

"The decisions of the courts be low, so far as they accomplish that result, should be affirmed," he asserted.

The majority held that congress in the law had exceeded its power under the constitution in attempting to regulate interstate commerce.

The decision holding NRA unconstitutional was cited as a precedent.

Constitutionality of the Guffey act to permit federal control of prices, wages and hours in the bituminous industry had been challenged by James Walter Carter, West Virginia and Virginia producer, and by 19 Kentucky operators.

Partly Upheld.
In the Carter case, the District of Columbia Supreme Court upheld price fixing, but declared unconstitutional the provisions for regulating wages and hours.

The Western Kentucky Federal district court upheld the entire act.

"Working conditions are obviously local conditions," today's opinion reminded.

The majority also held that it was an improper delegation of power to permit a majority to dominate a minority so far as wages and hours in an industry are concerned.

Arbitrary Delegation.
"The delegation," the opinion asserted, "is so clearly arbitrary, and so clearly a denial of rights safeguarded by the due process clause of the fifth amendment, that it is unnecessary to do more than refer to decisions of this court which foreclose this question."

The NRA decision also was cited.

"IDIOT'S DELIGHT"

By Joseph Fort Newton.
ROBERT SHERWOOD has a new play called "Idiot's Delight"—the idiot being a morose spirit of evil which stirs up strife and makes wars on earth for the amusement of his lonely hours.

Of course wars are not made by any crafty evil spirit using men as pawns in a game, but by men using other men for their own ends. But it is well to have art hold war up to scorn.

At the same time, a group of students at Princeton have organized "The Veterans of Future Wars," and have issued a manifesto asking for a bonus, which they say is entirely in keeping with our ideals.

It is inevitable, they say, that there will be another war within the next thirty years, and that every man of military age will have a part in it. Everything is taking shape to that plain end.

Therefore, they demand a bonus to be payable the first of June, 1965, and since it is customary that bonuses be paid before they are due, they insist that it be paid now, with compound interest.

"It is but common right," they add, "that this bonus be paid now, for many will be killed or wounded in the next war, and hence they, the most deserving, will not otherwise get the full benefit of it."

Not to be outdone in the campaign of irony, the girls of Vassar have formed an "association of gold-star mothers of veterans of future wars," and insist on immediate trips to Europe to visit the graves of their future sons. Chapters are being formed in other colleges.

This art and humor are being mobilized against war, pouring scalding satire upon the absurdity of settling disputes by slaughter. Youth is right; war is worse than wicked—it is sheer stupidity.

At any rate, these young people will not be duped by "the dream those drummers make" when the bugles blow for the next war! (Copyright, 1936, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Both the grade school orchestras, which consisted of the combined orchestras of the three Dixon grade schools, and the Dixon high school orchestra, appeared upon the program. Both are under the very able direction of Prof. Orville Westgate.

Such outstanding choral organizations as the Troubadettes, with Mrs. E. M. Goodsell, director; the Lutheran choir with Mrs. Dwight Chapman, director; the Hi Tri Chorus with Mrs. H. A. White, director, and the S. C. Grade Girls' Chorus with Miss Giansi, director, added much to the enjoyment of the program. For several years the Troubadettes, a selected group of young women singers have given brilliant concerts under the supervision of Mrs. Goodsell, their Twelfth Musicals at the Dixon Country Club being especially enjoyable.

In behalf of the Dixon Woman's club, Mrs. Arthur C. Bowers, their president, presented ten prizes to ten young musicians who had won out in the music contest held by the club and were present on these programs. In the afternoon the president, Mrs. Maud Lawton, called the meeting to order. All joined in singing "Love Divine." A Mother's Day program followed and Mrs. Chas. Butterbaugh gave a reading on "How Mother's Day Originated."

A list of departed mothers and members was read. The usual reports were given and approved and roll call was answered by verses pertaining to Mother's Day. The president named the following nominating committee: Mrs. Robert Herbst, Mrs. Leon Hart, Mrs. John Shaffer.

There will be election of officers for the following year at the next meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. John Shaffer. Mrs. Pete Miller and Mrs. Blynn Bryan had charge of the games. ## Talk by Miss Lucia Dement on Art Was Most Satisfying

Sunday the Art Exhibit sponsored by the Phidian Art Club, opened at the high school and the exhibit was well attended, there being more than fifty lovers of art present.

The feature of the opening of the exhibit was the address given by Miss Lucia Dement on the subject of the day, "Art." Miss Dement was for years Supervisor of Art at Columbia University. Her talk was most revealing and informative. She touched on Modernism, that form of art which is so popular today. Miss Dement does not care particularly for some forms of the Modernistic school, but stated that as time goes on some of its ideas will no doubt become permanent and live as have other forms, which when first introduced were looked at askance. The average person, not the critic, knows what he likes when he views a picture but cannot compare and draw out the excellent points as can a critic or another artist.

That which is worth while in painting, as in music, will live. After the address Miss Dement gave a gallery tour, which was most interesting.

A June Bride—in Coiffure Only

This would be a portrait of a lovely June bride, her coiffure bedecked with orange blossoms, except that it isn't the marry month, Eleanor Whitney isn't a bride, and those flowers are mock orange blossoms. Nevertheless, the novel arrangement that sets off the brown ringlets of Hollywood's petite dancing star should supply altar-bound girls with a suggestion or two. Certainly it will give young men romantic ideas.

Child Likes to Feel She Helps

By Olive Roberts Barton

Children love to feel that they are helping. It gives them a sense of belonging, of being necessary to the home-life of the group in which they live.

"I don't know how I could get along if Mortha didn't dry the dishes for me," a mother will say.

Seven-year-old Martha who has dried two cups and saucers, four orange juice glasses, two milk glasses, four oatmeal bowls, and half a dozen spoons will glow as though someone had lighted a candle and put it back of the blue eyes in her plump little face.

Mary helps me make the beds. She smooths the sheets at one end while I do it at the other. Bed-making goes twice as fast," another mother will say. In almost no time, Mary will start out on a great adventure to see if she can make a bed alone.

Old Folks in Same Plight

You are familiar with old people, whose own active existence is over, who sit in their sons' and daughters' homes, hands folded too often, wishing that they could do something to help. Their uselessness gives them a feeling that they are in the way, desirous though their children may be of having them there. They want to know that they are necessary!

A child, while too young to assume such an attitude, does not have the sense of responsibility toward his home that he should when he does nothing to help make it bright and shining and warm. It is too likely to become a place where he keeps his books and toys and gets his meals. However, if he is responsible for a small duty—he will be happier because he knows that the home is his too. It won't succeed unless he helps it.

"What can I do to help?" is a cry which children often make. All too often make.

All too often a mother will answer: "Run along and play, Betty. There's that new book that Aunt Jane sent you and your doll's dresses were just laundered. Find something to amuse yourself, honey until I'm through."

Make Cooking a Pleasure

If that mother is baking cookies, a far wiser solution to the problem would be to give Betty a piece of dough, and a small tin pan, and let her roll a ginger cake and sit quietly in the kitchen, getting her first lesson in the spicy realm of the cookie world, while she waits for her own particular treasure to brown. The next time that baking day comes she will want to make another cookie. Gradually she will acquire an interest in baking which in time will give her an excellent knowledge of this particular type of domestic routine. She will like cooking because it was fun in the beginning. Her mother will never say, as too many mothers do:

"I wish Betty liked to cook. The child never comes near the kitchen. She's almost eighteen and she can't boil water."

Too often mothers have themselves to blame when their daughters dislike house work. They were too busy to teach them. Or it was too much trouble.

A wise mother takes a long look ahead.

A USEFUL CAREER ENDED

Len Small, twice governor of Illinois and all his life a force for progress, either in his own community or over all of this state, is dead. A long and useful career is ended and men and women who knew Len Small pay his memory great honor.

Len Small was one of the best chief executives that Illinois ever had. His outstanding achievement was the building of this state's system of paved highways, which gave Illinois first place in the states of the union so far as good highways were concerned. The Governor was a kindly, moral, peaceful man, but a man of unbelievable courage, tenacity and principle. No man in public life in this state has ever been subjected to as much invective, abuse and unjust attack as Len Small withstood from an unscrupulous Chicago press which tried to ruin him because they could not boss him.

The early remains of Len Small will be tenderly laid to rest Wednesday afternoon near his home in Kankakee but his memory will live in men's hearts. His great ability, his accomplishments, his tremendous courage will make him an historic figure in Illinois long after his critics are forgotten.

OHIO AGAINST BORAH

Perhaps the people of Ohio knew what was going to happen in their primary election for selection of delegates to the republican national convention, but we confess to surprise at the overwhelming victory of Robert A. Taft, as a favorite son candidate, over Senator Borah. Taft was not a candidate for the presidency prior to the time a search was made for a favorite son to test strength with Borah.

Taft interprets his victory as a rejection of the New Deal in the proportion that Borah was rejected in the republican primary. It is generally accepted as a fact in Washington that the New Dealers are all pulling for Borah as against the other possible republican nominees. The New Deal publicists are interested in getting Borah to snarl at the other candidates and saying sharp things about them, putting oil on one and corrupt elections on another and something else on the next one.

In view of these tactics on the part of the intensive New Deal propaganda organization, it may be accepted, as Mr. Taft says, that the Ohio victory was a wallop at the New Deal.

Senator Borah has everything that a man needs for a primary campaign. Others spend thousands of dollars for advertising that Borah already has. Familiarity with his name is not confined to a state or to a section. It is nation-wide. In fact, that was the situation with which the Ohio republicans opposed to Borah had to contend. The personality of Governor Landon is not being injected into primaries as a candidate. No other person was equipped to go into Ohio and contest with Borah for delegates. The Ohio organization had a desire to control the delegates from its own state, and it brought out Robert Taft as a favorite son to bid for the delegates. Nobody outside the state regards the son of the former president as a candidate. Whether this happy endorsement by such a large and important state politically as Ohio will have the effect of projecting him really into the race is doubtful, though not impossible. The fact that Landon outran Borah in South Dakota, a state of the plains, and that Taft ran far ahead of him in Ohio, which is west to the east and east to the west, offsets to some extent the claim of a popular uprising in behalf of his nomination by republicans.

If such could not be demonstrated by entry into the various early state primaries, there is hardly any other purpose to be seen in the entry.

ANOTHER CRISIS

Some one always can be depended upon to furnish a fresh crisis for Europe to juggle. The latest threat to peace came with the ousting of Prince Ernst Ruediger von Starhemberg, vice chancellor of Austria, who had been serving as co-dictator with Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg. Von Starhemberg was thrown out because of differences of opinion with his chief, and he has threatened civil war. Civil war in Austria probably would mean intervention by Italy and possibly by Germany. Most certainly Czechoslovakia would want a hand in the settlement, and since Italy, Germany and Czechoslovakia, not to mention Hungary, have conflicting opinions about Austria's future, a good time would be had by all. In fact, it would be hard to keep Rumania, France, Poland and perhaps Russia out of the picture.

Prince Ernst Ruediger von Starhemberg is one of destiny's children. He comes of a very ancient and painfully honorable family, which he feels should be ruling Austria. He has aided casually in the movement to restore the Austrian throne to Prince Otto of the house of Hapsburg, but that was only because of expediency. Compared to the Starhembergs, the Hapsburgs are mere upstarts. It has been said that the Starhembergs were already an ancient and famous family when the Hapsburgs were goat herds.

It will be remembered that Adolf Hitler, boss of Germany, is an Austrian, too, and the fact that Hitler was only a paper hanger while Starhemberg was a blue-blood with a thousand servants for his enormous estates kept the prince from joining Hitler politically. He was a disciple of the paper hanger, however, until it became apparent that he never could be more than a petty lieutenant of the German boss. Then he turned to Benito Mussolini of Italy. Mussolini had been only a butcher's boy, but he was at least imposing in appearance.

By that time Starhemberg had attained the political position of minister of the interior, a position comparable to secretary of the interior in the United States. He was also the principal leader of the heimwehr, or Austrian home guard. This corresponds to the Hitler brown shirts and the Italian blackshirts. It occurred to him that if he were seized by his own home guards and forced to bigger and better things, he might become ruler of Austria, so he began plotting against himself. Discovery of the attempted revolution caused Starhemberg to be thrown out of office, and it was with some difficulty that he regained his political footing in time to grab the acting chancellorship in Austria's socialist revolution two years ago. He was immediately replaced by Schuschnigg.

Since then Starhemberg has wobbled between Hitler of Germany and Mussolini of Italy, hoping to get a grand opportunity through one of these. Differences between Schuschnigg and Starhemberg became acute within the last week when Schuschnigg insisted upon disbanding the heimwehr. Starhemberg says that can be done only over his dead body, and that Europe will hear from him shortly.

MRS. VARE LOSES IN FIRST ROUND

Three U. S. Women Are Eliminated, Patty Berg Survives

Southport, Eng., May 18.—(AP)—Wanda Morgan, the defending champion, Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, the American champion, and two other U. S. players were eliminated in the first round of the British women's golf championship today. The second and third rounds will be played tomorrow.

Mrs. Vare, who was among the favorites, was defeated by another American, Charlotte Glutting, South Orange, N. J., 5 and 3. After being two down at the turn, Mrs. Vare blew up on the last nine while Miss Glutting, driving far and well, never gave her a chance to get even.

The defeat of Miss Morgan was not so much of an upset. She was beaten by Bridget Newell, the youthful English barrister, who won the medal in the qualifying round. The score was 3 and 1. Miss Morgan made a great comeback on the last nine after being four down at the turn.

Other Survivors.

The other Americans who survived were Mrs. Maureen Orcutt, Crews, Coral Gables, Fla., who defeated Mrs. Grant White, Great Britain, 4 and 3; Patty Berg, Minneapolis, who trounced Marjorie Barron, Great Britain, 6 and 5; Marion Miley, Lexington, Ky., who defeated Doris Park, Great Britain, 4 and 3; and Mrs. Leona Cheney, Los Angeles, who thumped Mrs. Helen Holm, Great Britain, 6 and 5.

In addition to Mrs. Vare, the other two Americans who were eliminated were Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite, Fort Worth, Tex., who was beaten by Mrs. H. W. Newton, 4 and 2, and Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, who lost to Molly Gourlay, veteran British player, 3 and 2.

This leaves five Americans to play in the second round tomorrow.

DAILY HEALTH

NERVES AND THE MAN: I.

The intricate physiology of digestion and nutrition is basic to the economy of man, for the animal organism is in essence an energy-converting machine.

The energy taken in the form of food must undergo an elaborate series of changes before it becomes available for work. In consequence anything that strikes at digestive physiology handicaps the work capacity of the body. Not only is the body's performance, vital and external, affected, but resistance to disease is lowered. For instance, food limitations during the war caused tuberculosis to increase.

Digestive physiology also appears to be especially vulnerable to the "emotional factor." Fear, anxiety, worry readily upset digestion. Indeed, a digestive upset is frequently the first effect of an untoward emotional experience. The digestive disturbance may be mild, such as sudden loss of appetite, or it may be severe, as when a horrifying sight induces nausea, vomiting and diarrhea.

Though the varied and probably numerous causes of peptic ulcer are not as yet clearly defined, it is certain that emotional disturbances and less commonly disease of the nervous system play an important part in initiating the ulcer's development.

Emotional and nervous symptoms often precede the appearance

High School Tennis and Golf Championships are Decided

Urbana, Ill., May 17.—(AP)—The state high school golf championship was at home here today—in the possession of Frank Richart, Urbana high school senior who defeated Joe Franco, New Trier, Saturday afternoon in a playoff round, 75 to 78.

The title match was carried over from the morning when Richart dubbed a two-foot putt on the 18th hole for a tie. Richart had 75-77-152; Franco 78-78-152.

Third place went to John Holstrom, Rockford, 75-81-156; fourth to Jay Drakster, West Frankfort, 76-82-158. Richard Wolfley, Rockford, 79-80-159, and Yale Adams, McHenry, 80-79-159, tied for fifth.

Seymour Greenberg, Lane Tech, Chicago, defeated Forest Heintze,

Rock Island, 6-4, 6-1, 6-2, to win the tennis singles title. John McConnell and Bob Rodman, New Trier, won the doubles championship, 11-9, 6-3, 6-4, over Elmer Lueman and Bob Hamm, Jacksonville.

The team title went to New Trier with 43 points. Rock Island was second with 37; Jacksonville, third, 29.

Rosalind Russell of the films has the same make-up case she used when she made her debut in a tent show in 1930. The mirror is broken, but she uses it just the same—for luck.

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The candy that the Tinies found was good. Said Duncy, "I am bound to eat more than I should. I know I'll get a tummy ache."

"Well, if you're such a foolish lad," said Goldy, "it is just too bad. The old prospector better tell you how many to take."

"I think I have a better plan," the man replied. "You Tinies can have some of those fine chocolates. Why not leave them in the chest?"

"Then, when you're hungry, just take one. I know that will be lots of fun. You know, it's always hunger that makes anything taste best."

So, to this plan they all agreed. "I guess we've had all that we need," said Duncy. "Now, I'd like a drink. A stream is right nearby."

"I'll be about a minute's trip to scamper down and have a sip. Be careful, tots, don't fall in. We must keep our nice clothes dry."

When they all came back from the stream, their old friend said, "I have a scheme. I wonder if you

Tinies will help me build a seal?

"There's only one thing it must be. That's strong enough to carry me. When it is done, I'll treat you all to something good to eat."

"Don't ask me what I want it for. You'll find out that a treat's in store. Now, run and get the lumber that is piled up near my shack."

The happy Tinies raced away and shortly they heard Coppy say, "Oh, we can build a dandy seat. There is a great big stack!"

Soon saws were pushed and hammers flew. "It won't be long till we are through," said Duncy. "I am doing my full share, as you can see."

"My goodness, lad, don't tell me that. To you I gladly tip my hat. Whenever you work hard, I am surprised as I can be."

RAILROAD BOARD ORDER PROTECTS NEAR-PENSIONER

Makes Ruling Pending Outcome of Court Attacks on Law

Washington, May 18.—(AP)—The railroad retirement board announced today special provisions to protect the pensions of aging rail workers during settlement of a court attack on the retirement act.

Although the law provides a reduction in annuities for men who work beyond the 65-year retirement age, men reaching that age now are offered a temporary "stay" of this provision until the constitutionality of the retirement act is settled.

The question arose because many of the roads offer retirement at 70, under their own pension plans, while the government requires retirement at 65.

The board ruled that: "An employee who is 65 years of age or over and under 70 on August 31 may continue in carrier service without subjecting his annuity to a reduction" if he files with the board a written agreement with the carrier providing extension of his employment for one year "but not beyond the end of the month in which the employee attains age 70."

An employee who reaches 65 after August 31 may avoid a cut in his government annuity by filing a similar agreement "on or before the last day of the month in which he attains age 65."

Men reaching 65 and men over that age now, who do not file such an agreement will be subject to a cut in government annuities. The reduction will be about one-eighth of the total annuity for each month served beyond the 65-year without filing an agreement with the retirement board.

Await Court Decision

The retirement board officials said the federal pension plan probably will not move into action until after settlement of the suit of 126 railroads asking injunctions to stop enforcement of the act. The District of Columbia Supreme Court will hear arguments on May 20 over the railroads' demand that both the retirement act and the tax act passed to finance pensions be declared void.

The retirement system was originally scheduled to take effect June 1, while the excise tax on roads and wages tax on employees was scheduled to become effective Aug. 1. Lawyers said they expect the district court controversy to be settled before August 1.

Georgia Golf Champ Takes Marathon Win Covering 500 Holes

Atlanta, May 18.—(AP)—Dr. Julius Hughes won a chicken dinner from Charlie Yates but it took 500 holes of golf and 120 miles of walking to do it.

They wound up their marathon match yesterday with the state champion holding a two up edge on the western amateur titleholder.

The unique contest was started last summer and carried on at irregular intervals over three Atlanta courses. Neither ever had a wide lead.

Margaret Lindsay enjoys "doing" the amusement piers at the beach—she always wins prizes at the games. She's particularly good at knocking the milk bottles down with a baseball.

Need Building-Up?

WHEN you are listless, need to put on healthy flesh, when you've no appetite, or stomach gives trouble with gas or dyspepsia, try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Read what Mrs. Margaret Purdum of 808 North Pine St., Knoxville, Wis., said:

"After an illness a few years ago I was in a weakened condition for some time. I really thought I never would be strong again. I was so thin and had no appetite at all. I took several bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and my general condition was soon back to normal. All druggists.

STATE MEDICAL SOCIETY WILL MEET TOMORROW

Sessions in Springfield to Be Sort of Homecoming

Springfield, Ill., May 18—(AP)—An increase in the use of visual means to demonstrate lectures will feature the 86th annual meeting of the Illinois State Medical Society, which convenes here tomorrow, State Health Director F. J. Jirka said today.

All projection machines of the state health department have been reserved by speakers, and more machines are needed, Dr. Jirka declared. In addition, there will be elaborate health, educational and commercial exhibits, he said.

The department of health, under the direction of Dr. Jirka, has prepared charts from original mortality records to show instantly the vulnerable points of attack of the principal communicable diseases.

Cities Progress

In illustrating the value of medical research and practice, Dr. Jirka pointed out that since 1850, the average life expectancy of babies has been added to by 20 years, and that a half-dozen diseases, including smallpox, cholera, typhoid fever and diphtheria, practically have been eradicated. Up to 1923 there were never less than 1,000 deaths annually in Illinois from diphtheria, while now the mortality ranges between one and two hundred, he said.

This year's assembly will be in the nature of a homecoming, as the society was organized in Springfield June 4, 1850, while the society's journal was first published here in 1899. Twelve hundred of the society's 6,000 members are expected to attend the meeting, which will conclude Thursday.

Included among the speakers by invitation will be Dr. Ralph A. Kinsella, St. Louis, Mo., and Dr. George Crile, Cleveland, O.

Dr. Charles B. Reed, Chicago, president of the society, will deliver his address on Wednesday afternoon, and on Thursday will induct Dr. Roland L. Green, Peoria, into the presidential office.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

FIRST FASCIST RULE IN AMERICAS

THREE years of enervating war with Bolivia, over a steaming, uninhabitable jungle area called the Gran Chaco, had left Paraguay weak and exhausted. A commission of six neutral American countries had met to arrange peace terms, when Col. Rafael Franco, hero of the Chaco, led an army of rebellion against the liberal government of President Eusebio Ayala. The war had cost thousands of lives to gain much of the disputed Chaco territory, and Franco did not want to compromise now.

As a result, Franco has become president of Paraguay, and has declared the first Fascist regime in the western hemisphere. He has suspended all political activity for one year, and has placed the control of all industries under the minister of the interior. The action has left the peace conference in doubt over the outcome of the entire Chaco affair, although Franco has promised a "just" peace with Bolivia.

At any rate, the map shown on the accompanying stamp, which was issued in 1927, is destined to be changed somewhat.

Cookery News Notes Compiled By Lucile Harris

By Lucile Harris
DRIED BEEF IS GOOD FRIEND OF BUSY HOUSEWIFE

Dried beef is a universal favorite with families because it always seems to "hit the spot" and with homemakers because it can be depended upon for emergency meals as well as hurry-up meals.

By the time dried beef reaches the homemaker's cupboard it has been trimmed, allowed to stand in a brine and finally smoked and dried so that every bit of the meat which the housewife takes home with her is edible. The fact that it has been dried and smoked makes it easy to keep on hand and also a very concentrated form of protein. In fact, dried beef is nearly all protein for the fat and moisture content of the meat has been removed in the processing. Meat protein is very necessary in the family diet for it builds up the tissue which is constantly being broken down by every-day activities.

New Ways With Old Favorite
There are innumerable ways in which to serve dried beef, many of which you no doubt know. However, here are several recipes, some of which are old-time favorites and some that are new and rather different. Have you ever browned the dried beef in a little melted butter before adding it to whatever recipe you are making? This browning enhances the flavor greatly and makes an even more delicious finished product.

Creamed Eggs and Chipped Beef on Toast

1/2 pound chipped beef
4 hard-cooked eggs
2 tablespoons fat
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
1/2 teaspoon onion juice
1/4 teaspoon pepper
6 slices hot buttered toast

Remove shells from eggs and cut into slices. Melt fat in a saucepan and add flour. Stir until well blended and add milk gradually, stirring all the time. Cook until thickened, then add onion juice and pepper. Separate chipped beef into pieces and add with eggs to cream sauce. Cook until eggs are heated through and turn out onto buttered toast and serve at once.

Creamed Dried Beef Shortcake

Prepare hot baking powder biscuits 3 inches in diameter, split, butter, and fill with freshly creamed dried beef. These are especially good when served with small green onions sliced and dressed with vinegar, pepper and salt.

Dried Beef Pop-Overs

1 cup dried beef (shredded)
1 egg
1 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon milk

Butter
1 teaspoon parsley (minced)
1 teaspoon onion (minced)
1 cup medium white sauce (seasoned)
Beat egg white until light. Sift together flour and salt and add to egg alternately with milk. Beat with rotary beater, until thoroughly blended. Preheat muffin or gem pans in hot oven. Grease each tin and fill two-thirds full with batter. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 20 minutes; then reduce temperature to moderate oven (350° F.) and bake 20 minutes longer.

Add dried beef parsley, and onion to white sauce and heat thoroughly. Cut top from pop-overs, fill with dried beef mixture, replace top and serve hot.

Chipped Beef with Scrambled Eggs
1 pound dried beef
4 eggs
4 tablespoons butter
Salt and pepper
Melt butter in frying pan. Place dried beef in pan and simmer until crisp. Push beef to one side, break in eggs, season and scramble with beef. Serve with baked potatoes, rolls, and whole tomatoes.

Dried Beef De Luxe

1 pound chipped beef
1/2 pound cheese, grated
2 cups tomatoes
3 tablespoons butter
1 onion, diced
1 green pepper, diced
1 egg
2 tablespoons cream
Buttered toast
Melt the butter in the skillet. Add the diced onion, green pepper, and dried beef. Stir until ingredients start to brown. Add the grated cheese and the tomatoes. After it simmers a little, lower the heat and add the egg beaten with the cream. Cut slices of bread into triangles or any desired fancy shape. Toast lightly and spread with butter. Serve dried beef on the hot buttered toast. From which the centers have been scooped out, mashed, seasoned, and replaced in the shells. Brown potatoes under the broiler flame.

County Treasurer Fees Mandatory

Springfield, Ill., May 16—(AP)—Attorney General Otto Kerner has ruled that fees charged by county treasurers on money received from the state and paid out for old age pension administrative costs are mandatory.

In an opinion requested by James H. Andrews, superintendent of Illinois old age assistance, Kerner said:

"If the General Assembly did not intend old age assistance funds should suffer these charges, it could and should have amended the fees and salaries act. Until this is done I am compelled to hold that county treasurers are allowed the present two per cent charges."

A bill to amend the old age assistance act by eliminating the payment of the fees is pending in the legislature.

The Real Economic Problem

By WALTER E. SPAHR

Secretary, Economists' National Committee on Monetary Policy

When the Governor of Michigan said in substance that we could not claim to be solving our economic problem until the employable among the unemployed are put back to work, he stated a fundamental economic truth. We have accomplished altogether too little in that direction. The American Federation of Labor estimates that over 12,000,000 persons are still unemployed, compared with a peak of about 13,600,000 in March, 1933. This picture, if even approximately accurate, shows clearly that the so-called recovery is not sound in the sense of reaching the unemployed.

Until the unemployed are re-employed they must be given adequate relief, the only problem being to see that they get relief in the most efficient and economical manner possible. But the granting of relief will not put people to work. Money spent by those receiving relief makes retail stores a little more prosperous, but it does not reach back and stimulate heavy industries sufficiently to increase employment greatly. And it is in the heavy industries and in the related service industries, that most unemployment is found.

Therefore the problem is to increase employment in the heavy industries; and as they expand their activities and employment in the related service industries also increase. Many of these industries have expanded their activities considerably, but without increasing employment to any great extent. The reason is that their skeleton staffs and machines can fill many orders before it is necessary to increase the number of employed appreciably. And so long as the prospects for profits are none too bright, employers are going to be cautious about adding extra employees. This is especially true when new employees mean new unemployment insurance obligations and new difficulties with labor unions if later it becomes necessary to reduce the staff.

A simple fact regarding the unemployment problem is that the unemployed cannot be employed unless someone employs them. The employers cannot and will not employ people so long as it is unprofitable to do so. It will not be profitable so long as unnecessary obstacles are placed in their way, and for three long years

People who argue thus are, in general, labor's worst enemies, although their chief stock-in-trade is protestation of friendship for the laborer. The real friend of the unemployed is getting just what he gives him his job—the employer. He is the only person who can solve the unemployment problem and he should be helped to do it, not hindered. Every obstacle placed in his path, every governmental act that has increased employers' costs has been a nasty blow at the unemployed.

Inspired by these demagogues, workers and the unthinking public have mistaken things labeled "aid to labor" for things that actually do benefit labor.

In spite of all the shouting and protesting and demagoguery, unemployment figures are very little below the maximum recorded. The real economies of such questions always tell the true story, and the shouting and clamor and turmoil and demagoguery finally become known for what they are. It is the quick that shouts his war, praises his snake oil, boasts of his friendship for humanity. The real physician does not shout about his friendship. He employs scientific remedies that restore and cure. The author in this ought to be obvious.

BOLD VENTURE PROVES RIGHT TO HIS CROWN

Huge Crowd Expected at Belmont Park June 6

New York, May 18.—(AP)—Bold Venture, winner of the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness, has proved his right to wear the three-year-old crown.

Like a true champion, the chestnut filly from Morton L. Schwartz's New York stable has shown he can run in front or come from behind and still be on top at the judge's stand. He was a front runner when he beat J. E. Widener's Brevity in the Derby. In the Preakness he came from the rear with a dramatic stretch drive to whip William Woodward's Granville by a nose.

Bold Venture's margins of victory were so narrow, however, that there are many who still declare Brevity would have won the Derby had he not been roughed at the start or that Granville would have taken the Preakness if Jimmy Stout had saved his mount on the back stretch and not gone wide at the line.

Belmont Stakes a Natural. Regardless of the arguments, the outcome of the famous Kentucky and Maryland classics turned the $50,000 Belmont Stakes into a natural, which should draw one of the largest crowds in New York turf history to Belmont Park, June 6. The mile and one-half race will find the three colts, plus C. V. Whitney's Red Rain, matching strides for the first time this year. Granville was in the Derby but never got a chance after tossing his rider at the start.

Already a member of that select group of five horses which have won both the Derby and Preakness, Bold Venture will be seeking an even more coveted honor in the Belmont. Only three horses, Sir Barton, Gallant Fox, and Omaha, have won the American "triple." Burgoon King was successful in the Derby and Preakness but did not start in the Belmont.

EUROPEAN ZONE QUARTER-FINAL FOR DAVIS CUP

American Zone Will Name Challenger in Near Future

New York, May 18.—(AP)—While the United States and Australian teams are tuning up at Philadelphia for the final clash of the American zone Davis Cup competition, six nations have reached the quarter final in the European zone. The ultimate winner will oppose the victor between America and Australia in the inter-zone series for the right to challenge England.

Two encounters were delayed over the past week-end in Europe, but the ones that have been completed sent Belgium, France, Germany, Argentina, Ireland and Switzerland into the third round.

Germany, topping the lower half of the draw, triumphed over Hungary, 5-0, in matches concluded yesterday and will oppose Argentina, which previously had eliminated Greece, Ireland and Switzerland, victorious over Sweden and Denmark, respectively, will meet in the other lower half encounter.

In the upper half Austria leads Poland, two matches to one, and Czechoslovakia has the same margin over Yugoslavia by virtue of yesterday's doubles victory. The final singles matches of the Austria-Poland tie, the winner of which will meet Belgium, were postponed yesterday. Belgium eliminated Norway a week ago while France trounced Holland and will meet the winner between Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia.

Franklin Marksman Won Shoot Sunday

Howard Biesacker of Franklin Grove led all 16 yard marksman Sunday afternoon at the Airport Gun club traps by breaking 47 out of a possible 50 targets. One week ago, Biesacker, a comparatively new comer in the ranks of trap shooting, led all contestants with a score of 97 out of a possible 100. Charles Duls of this city placed second in Sunday's scorings with a card totalling 84 out of a possible 100. Albert Ostrander of Harmon placed third with a score of 62 out of a possible 75. The high wind that swept across the field in front of the traps made the targets perform tricks which were accountable for the low scores.

Here and There In Sports World

By EDDIE BRIETZ (Associated Press Sports Writer)
New York, May 18.—(AP)—Baseball gossip: Al Simmons and Mickey Cochrane are sharing the Detroit hoots and jeers these days. "Some of the fans are calling Al the '$75,000 bust'." The way to lick the Cubs, says Charlie Dressen, is to stop that "little pest," Augie Galan. Which is like saying the way to win the pennant is to trim the other seven clubs. One job is about as easy as the other.

Brooklyn scribes think too much bull pen duty is hurting Van Mungo's form. Joe McCarthy, who should know, laughs off charges that his ex-problem child, Johnny Allen, chucks a mean spitter on occasions. St. Louis papers razzed the Cardinals for not lending Leo Durocher a fist or two against Casey Stengel.

Week's funniest sight: Gen. Phelan of boxing commission spending ten minutes going over the rules with Pedro Montanez, who doesn't understand a word of English. Babe Ruth is crashing the low 70s consistently these days. Tony Canzoneri has undergone two nasal operations since Jimmy McLarnin belted him on the back ten days ago. The Baltusrol course will not be stiffened for the national open. Sid Mercer, the American's crack sports writer, is the guy who christened W. 49 St. "Jacobs Beach."

Cincinnati scouts report it was Larry MacPhail who suspended Paul Derringer for "not sliding" when Derringer and everybody else knew the pitcher was out by a country mile. And that the first Charlie Dressen knew of it was when he read the story in the papers.

Prosperity note: Three N. Y. ticket offices for the Louis-Schmelting joust are averaging selling $2,000 worth of pasteboards per hour. And the ringside seats not yet on sale.

They say a lot of smart money is shifting to the Red Sox these days. The Dodgers have tried out no fewer than seven men in right field this season. Six of Marquette's eight football opponents next season will employ the Notre Dame system. Yet, some say, it's fading out. If Joe Louis doesn't intend to fight Jimmy Braddock this fall, why has he signed for his Lakewood camp for the month of August?

MAJOR LEAGUE TEAMS LURED GREAT CROWD

Strength of Teams Not Favored For Flag Reason

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. (Associated Press Sports Writer)
In spite of the fact that the 1935 pennant winners are having trouble remaining in the first division—or perhaps for that very reason—major league baseball has suddenly become a paying proposition.

At least four banner crowds turned out yesterday to see teams that are contending for the top places and one clash between a pair that are far down in the standing but usually provide plenty of entertainment.

A crowd of 28,303 cash customers piled into the Polo Grounds to see the New York Giants, playing their first Sunday home game of the season, continue their pursuit of the St. Louis Cardinals by trimming Pittsburgh 8 to 6. The Yankees and Indians, first and third respectively in the American League, drew more than 27,000 into Cleveland's league park to see the home team take an 8 to 4 drubbing while Boston's popular Red Sox drew some 23,000 fans to watch them out Chicago's White Sox, 8 to 7.

Reds-Dodgers Draw 17,000. The erratic Dodgers and Reds attracted some 17,000 Brooklyn customers for an odd contest which the Reds won 3 to 2 although they got only four hits against Brooklyn's 12. A home run by Lee Handley and a single by the same rookie, preceded by a walk and followed by Kiki Cuyler's blow, turned the trick for Cincinnati.

The Cardinals maintained their slim half-game margin over the Giants by walloping the Phillies 10 to 3; the Tigers regained an interest in the first division by overcoming Washington 8 to 7 and the Browns broke their latest losing streak by trimming the Athletics 8 to 5 in the day's other games.

STATE COLLEGE TRACK MEET TO GET SPOTLIGHT

Chicago, May 18.—(AP)—The annual track and field championships, to be contested at Normal Friday and Saturday, take the spotlight this week in the Illinois Intercollegiate conference. Entries from 18 schools have been received. Illinois College, leading the base ball race with three victories, will meet Monmouth Wednesday in its only game of the week. Twelve baseball games, six of them conference clashes, appear on the schedule.

The baseball standings:

	W	L	Pct.
Illinois College	3	0	1.000
Illinois Wesleyan	7	1	.875
North Central	4	1	.800
State Normal	5	2	.714
Lake Forest	2	1	.667
Bradley	3	2	.600
Western Teachers	3	4	.429
Northern Teachers	2	3	.400
Eureka	2	3	.400
Wheaton	2	4	.333
Monmouth	1	4	.200
Elmhurst	1	5	.167
Eastern Teachers	0	5	.000

The Cubs and Bees, rivals for fourth place in the National League, were rained out.

The Giants, hanging up their seventh straight victory, got off to a fast start against Ralph Birkhoff, lost their lead in the fourth and finally won out when they belted Guy Bush for three runs in the fifth.

Johnny Allen, the former New York flinger, again failed to subdue the Yankees. They pounded him to cover in the sixth. Lefty Gomez also failed to finish but his hit drove in the winning run.

Red Sox Beat Chicago. After dropping a 6-1 lead, the Red Sox won out over Chicago when Bill Werber socked a homer in the eighth and Rick Ferrell repeated in the ninth. The Tigers also won in the final inning, scoring twice on a double, two passes by Ed Linke and a couple of flies.

Four passes by Ross, Philadelphia rookie, and Jim Bottomley's triple started the Browns toward their second victory in 19 games and Julius Solters finished the job when his seventh-inning homer broke a 5-5 tie.

With Dizzy Dean on the hill hurling six-hit ball, four of the blows coming in one inning, the Cards had few worries.

DRIVERS KEPT BUSY WARMING UP TRIM AUTOS

For Memorial Day Auto Races At Indianapolis

Indianapolis, Ind., May 18.—(AP)—With seventeen places still open in the starting lineup for the annual 500 mile automobile race here May 30, drivers who still hope to compete began five more days of tinkering with motors before qualification trials are resumed next Saturday.

The only activity at the 2½ mile track between now and Saturday will be the mechanical work and the warm-up spins. With Rex Mays of Los Angeles in the pole position for the second year, the other 15 drivers who have qualified are Babe Stapp of Los Angeles, George Connor of San Bernardino, Calif., Cliff Bergere of Los Angeles, Chet Miller of Detroit, George (Doc) MacKenzie of Eddington, Pa., Herbert Ardinger of Glasport, Pa., Louis Tomei of Los Angeles, Wilbur Shaw, of Indianapolis, Bill Cummings of Indianapolis, Ted Horn of Los Angeles, William (Shorty) Canton of Detroit, Fred Wynn of Philadelphia, George Barringer of Houston, Tex., Floyd Roberts of Los Angeles and Jimmy Snyder of Chicago.

Mays' Time 119 Per Hour. Mays' time in winning the choice spot in the first row was 119.644 miles per hour.

Yesterday's crowd, estimated at 30,000 by Col. Edward V. Rickenbacker, president of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Corporation, had one big thrill. Ralph Hepburn of Los Angeles lost control of his car as he roared into the straightaway during a test spin and it cracked the upper wall four times before coming to a stop at the bottom of the track.

Hepburn was not hurt although his car was damaged. He said he hoped to have it ready to qualify for the race later.

Under the speedway rules the 33 fastest cars will be allowed in the race. Drivers who qualify

IN the dry sections of Africa, where no rain falls for a year or more at a stretch, tiny plants grow and thrive on the rocky, sun-parched soil. By imitating the stones among which they dwell, they are unmolested by birds and beasts. Even the colors of the plants vary, always matching the particular type of surrounding rock.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Mortals and Immortals" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 17.

The Golden Text was, "What man knoweth the things of a man, save the spirit of man which is in him? even so the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God" (1 Cor. 2:11).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "As for man, his days are as grass; as a flower of the field, so he flourisheth. For the wind passeth over it and it is gone; and the place thereof shall know it no more. But the mercy of the Lord is from everlasting to everlasting upon them that fear him, and his righteousness unto children's children; To such as keep his covenant, and to those that remember his commandments to do them" (Psalms 103:15-18).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science Textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Immortal birth, growth, maturity, and decay are as the grass springing from the soil with beautiful green blades, afterwards to wither and return to its native nothingness. This mortal seeming is temporal; it never merges into immortal being, but finally disappears, and immortal man, spiritual and eternal, is found to be the real man" (p. 190).

BEGIN HERE TODAY

LINDA BOURNE, 20, pretty, is left almost penniless by the sudden death of her father.

PETER GARDNER, newspaper reporter, helps her get a job writing society news. Linda is in love with DIX (THORNE), but he goes abroad to study singing. When Peter asks Linda to marry him, she agrees, but postpones the wedding.

HONEY HARMON, film star, comes to Newtown, making a "personal appearance" for a busy scenario written by Linda. Later Linda goes to Hollywood and, by expressing ideas that are really Peter's, acquires a reputation for being able to discover new stars. Soon she is a celebrity.

Dix Carter comes to Hollywood to get into films as an actor. Linda tries to help him. The other Dix, who invites BASIL THORNE, director, to her home though she dislikes and distrusts Thorne.

Peter Gardner writes a successful play and comes to Hollywood.

Thorne drives Linda to a mountain resort where the company is held to work next day. The others fail to arrive. There is trouble with the car and Linda and Thorne are obliged to stay through the night. The story gets about and Linda asks Dix to stop it. He says he will if she will marry him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIII
Linda couldn't believe she had heard him rightly.

"I'm afraid you'll have to explain exactly what you mean," she said when she could speak.

"I want to marry you, Linda. In my way, I'm in love with you. I'll be good to you. You'll never be sorry. You have—"

"The impression I got was that you were willing to force me into marrying you because I would be so ashamed to have my name coupled with yours in scandal. That's a very strange way to prove this would be good to me."

"You're very blunt, my dear. I didn't mean that, at all. Besides, when you are my wife no one will dare to speak ill of you. And what is more, they will soon forget."

"You're a beast!" Linda was choked with anger. "Do you suppose I'll ever forget? I hate you. I loathe the sight of you. It makes me ill to think of anyone mentioning my name in connection with you but I am not afraid of you. I won't appeal to you again, or to your finer instincts; I don't believe you have any but I will leave you to face your own ego and to wonder what people will think of you when I have denied everything you've said. And I can do it with conviction. My reputation in Hollywood is far superior in moral tone to yours, Basil Thorne. Now will you get out, please?"

Linda drove back from Santa Monica at a furious pace. She wasn't afraid, she was angry.

When she reached her own home once more, she took an icy shower, hoping to calm her nerves. Then she put on a lacy negligee and tore it off to den pajamas because she couldn't pace the floor with furious freedom.

When she reached her own home once more, she took an icy shower, hoping to calm her nerves. Then she put on a lacy negligee and tore it off to den pajamas because she couldn't pace the floor with furious freedom.

Thinking, thinking what could she do! Until she realized that there was little that one lone woman could do.

But she wasn't alone. She had Dix who loved her, Dix who was her own kind, Dix who was going to make her his wife. Dix would settle Basil Thorne.

That night, dining with Dix, she said, "Darling, I want you to promise me that when I tell you something you won't lose your temper. I want you to be calm."

"You've decided to buy that police pup?" Dix hadn't wanted her to have it.

"Shilly!" she laughed. "I wish it did only concern the pup. We'll take that up later. No, it's something much more serious."

"Let me think," Dix looked toward the ceiling. "You've gotten in a jam at the bank again because you won't keep your check-book straight? You've bought me a necktie you 'just couldn't resist'?"

"You've—"

"I'm sorry, Dix. It's nothing so trivial as all that. It's about Basil Thorne."

"Again?" Dix didn't appear to be very interested. "It's his bothering you, why don't you tell him to leave you alone?"

"It seems that I can't do that. At least I've tried."

"That's the penalty you pay for being so irresistibly beautiful, my pet."

"Do be serious, Dix. I'm sick over this and I've simply got to tell you because you've got to help me."
